LOOSE AND PARTY ARE MAKING GOOD

The way the people are wending their way to Cleland's hall every night is a proof that they are getting something. Evangelist Loose 'The Live Wire' is preaching strong practical sermons. There is no cant but plain practical pointed talks. The large body of men that attended the meeting for men only last Sunday were thrilled. The attendance at the evening service was large in spite of the inclement weather and large congregations have greeted the evangelist every night.

Prof. Willgus is getting into the hearts of the people with his solo singing. Rev. W. A. Pugsley is giving some of his strong practical lectures at the afternoon services. Mrs. Pugsley's strong address to women last Sunday afternoon was appreciated by the women and they have requesetd her to give her address next Sunday on 'White Slaves.'

This party of workers were called to Ukiah on account of their past success in the east and Ukiah has the opportunity of a life time to hear such specialist in their line of work every night. Sunday will be a great day. First service at 10:30; special service for men at 2:30; women at the M. E. church at 2:30; big service at 7:30 in the hall. X.

CASIMIR CHAPTER O E S INSTALLS

At a special meeting the officers of Casimir Chapter were installed by Past Worthy Grand Patron, John L. McNab, assisted by Mrs. Mattie Hutchison as Marshal and B. L. Cleland as Chaplain. The work was impressively rendered and many new features in the floor work introduced. It was pronounced the finest ever given here.

Many visitors were present and received a hearty welcome. After the installation ceremonies, tables were set in the main hall and a fine banquet spread. Among the speakers of the evening were Past Patron, E. G. Busch, John L. McNab, Hale McCowen jr., Worthy Patron of Kingsley Chapter, Mrs. I. S. Perkins, R. L. Hutchison, and L. W. Babcock.

Mrs. I. S. Perkins, the retiring Worthy Matron, was presented with a Past Matron's jewel. The presentation begins made by J. L. McNab and in kindly words he spoke of her work and the very successful year that is just finished. The hall was beautifully decorated in red and green and the tables, also, were decorated nicely.

Under the able leadership of Mrs. Jessie Hildreth as Matron and Dr. C. E. Pierce as Patron, the coming year should be one of prosperity and happiness of Casimir Chapter.

Mrs. Jessie McNab, past patron, accompanied her husband and was warmly welcomed by the members of the chapter.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

A resolution was adopted by the board of supervisors urging the representatives of this county to work for a state appropriation to erect and maintain a California state building at the San Francisco fair. Another resolution was adopted favoring making each county a game district; license money to be paid into the county treasury; game wardens to be employed by the board; license money to be used for coyote bounties etc; board to have authority to change hunting seasons; licenses only to be good in county where issued. Contracts for groceries and dry goods and tobacco awarded Jamison Bros.; E. B Gibson drugs; B. S. Hirsch whiskey and port wine; these firms appearing the lowest bidders.

Geraldine Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cunningham, has been ill with pneumonia but is improving.

POPULAR MEMBERS RETIRE FROM BOARD

C. P. Smith of this city and Dave Brandon of Fort Bragg who retired to private life last week after having served as supervisors present a new phase of political life in this county. Both are popular men and retired of their own free will. Both have made excellent supervisors and have done many things toward improving the conditions of their districts. They were valuable members of the board and have many friends who regret that they have decided to go back to private life

Mr. Smith has an enviable record as a servant of the people. For twenty-six years excepting a two year term as assessor and one term as supervisor Mr. Smith has been in continuous public service. As an assessor he was fearless and able and his knowledge of land values enabled him to give the people good service. As a supervisor he has always endeavored to do the best that he possibly could and his judgment in business matters has always been exceptionally keen and has proved of value to the taxpayers. During his last term as usual he conducted an economical administration and on retiring left the funds of the district in exceptionally good condition practically all of this years tax levy remaining untouched. Mr. Smith was a hard fighter in politics but remembered those who helped him win his battles and to this is at'rbuted much of his success.

Dave Brandon retires after having served only four years as supervisor and is still one of the most popular men in his district and his friends claim that had he desired to run that he could easily have been elected again. While Mr. Brandon liked the work and said that he never enjoyed himself as much as when at a board meeting his private interests could not be handled in connection with his county duties without neglecting one or the other and Dave is no man to neglect anything that he starts in on.

In the fourth district Mr. Brandon has done some good work in permanent road building and accomplished many improvements appreciated by the traveling public. As a member of the board he enjoyed the utmost confidence and friendship of his fellow members. His great desire was to give the people a suare deal and the worth of their money.

MRS C A MILLER IS CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Curtis A. Miller, a talented and beautiful woman the wife of our well known land and development operator, was called suddenly by death Tuesday night shortly after 12 o'clock.

Mrs. Miller had been in comparatively good health considering the expected arrival in the near future of a little one and the blow to the bereaved husband came as a terrible shock because of the comradeship existing between the two and the bright future anticipated and planned for.

The remains were taken in charge by Hutchison & Roeder the undertakers and the body embalmed ready for shipment to Sparta, Wis. Saturday, where accompanied by Mr. Miller the body will be taken for burial, the funeral to be from the family home of Mrs. Miller who as Miss Nellie May Forbes, was beloved and esteemed by many friends in the eastern home.

Mr. Miller has the heartfelt sympathy of many friends in Ukiah who have learned to honor and respect this able man and loved his estimable helpmate because of the good she as continually doing. Mrs. Miller had made many friends in this city because of her friendliness and beautiful character and her end is regretted by all who knew the heart of this good woman.

KETCHUM OBJECTS TO THE ICE WAGON

Cousin Bill Ketchum of Point Arena was in town last week as a member of the grand jury. Billy believes in regulation and that there is a season for all things, especially sprinkling and ice wagons. A few weeks ago when he visited this city he brought up before the grand jury that the sprinkling wagon was running out of season and Recorder Holbrook was appointed a commitee to attend to the matter. Billy reports that the sprinkling wagon has been stopped but on one of his early morning tours of inspection what should he meet but the ice wagon and the thermometer was below freezing then.

It was some life time before he could recover his second wind and make sure that the wagon really carried ice. Billy says that where the broad Pacific laps the shores of Mendocino county nothing like this happens. They catch a few fish out of season, occassionally pot a buck out of season but never under any circumstances are water and ice used out of season. He appointed Postmaster Caughey to abate the nuisance and says that things must be straightened out before the next meeting of the grand jury.

HARVEY THOREN, Long Distance Walker of the World and special correspondent of the Press, who is walking over the U. S. and boosting for Mendocino Co.

CASTLEBERRY, Ala. Jan. 5—Many thanks for your letter I recieved at Montgomery, Alabama. Needless to say I was more than pleased and also happy to hear from your. I am sitting alone here in the room resting my feet as I have had hard hiking along the railroad since leaving Atlanta, Ga. The road bed consists of burnt rock from some smelter.

With my pension money I bought an overcoat and also a pair of shoes (my 8th pair of shoes since I have been on the road and the heels are nearly all gone now) I then sent $5 for photos of myself to come at Mobile, Alabama, which is 88 miles from this place. I also bought a dollar watch. So you see I gave myself a few Christmas presents.

My last letter was from Atlanta, Ga. I spent Christmas eve at a hotel in Union city. I paid 50 cents for a bed and was treated to breakfast Christmas morning and also given a good lunch.

The evening of the 26th going into Louise where I arrived at 6:10 p m it was so dark that I had to light matches going across the trestle into town On the 27th at La Grange I sold Police Gazettes all day and spent the night in a cotton mill with the night watch sleeping in the engine room.

Going from West Point, Ga., to Opalika Ala. I over took a newly married couple. They were negroes the groom 20 and the bride 17. They were spending their honeymoon walking and the distance is 20 miles between the towns. They asked if I had any water in my canteen and not having any I called at a farm house and filled it. The farmer knowing who I was and having seen my picture in the papres gave me an apple and an orange. I gave the couple a drink of water. I gave the orange to the bride and the apple to the groom and they were very thankful for them as they had had no lunch. The wind was cold and the hiking hard but the three of us waked into Opalika. A tiredder bride you folks never saw. I felt sorry for the girl as she did not have warm clothes and I let her wear my gloves to keep her hands warm.

On December 29 I passed through Loachapoka and Notasugal and on the 30th Shebaw, Gabbett, Milstead and Shorters. How do these names strike you as a place to live? I stayed in Montgomery New Years day. I was in Letohachie on the night of the second and we had a real storm. A heavy gale blew and there was lightening and thunder and three houses were blown down. I thought the house I was in going too. The people all got up and dressed and you bet I did too. Next morning I counted 17 telegraph poles down along side the railroad track and the trees were too thick to count.

Today I have been on the road ten months and still have six more months of hiking to complete my long journey. I feel that every step I take brings me closer home and makes me feel happy. You Ukiah folks should see how poor the southern negro is. They are not living but merely existing. Their houses are old huts and I have seen them propped up from the sides so that they would not fall down. The interior of the huts and their clothing shows poverty to the last degree. The men work for 75 cents a day and the women get 40 cents during cotton picking. I have spoken to many of them and they seem to come to me to tell me their troubles. They all ask me how far it is to some place where they could go and get better wages. They have an idea that California is almost a heaven and in comparison with their condition they are not so far wrong. One negro who seemed more educated than the ordinary told me that they were compelled to live like hogs. Their condition is worse a great deal than the digger Indians at the rancherias in Mendocino county.

W. T. Boatwright, a groceryman at Georgiana, Alabama wants some information about realestate in Mendocino county Realestate men and people with property to sell will please write to him.

ASSEMBLYMAN T. J. WELDON WRITES

(Press' Special Sevice)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14—The legislature is getting down to work in earnest. There was considerable discussion on the adoption of joint rules and I am sure that it brought about a good feeling and a business method of handling bills.

Yesterday was the first day for the introduction of bills and each member was allowed to introduce two. My first was a blue sky law and second a constitutional amendment to prevent the legislature from ever levying an advalorem tax on the property of the people of the state or in other words to require the expenses of the state government to be raised by taxes up on corporations aand banks.

Today the bars were down for the introduction of bills. I introduced three bills for appropriations for the Mendocino state hospital, also bills, to abolish the Saturday half holiday and others. My fish and game bill making a separate district of every county in the state is causing the commission to sit up and take notice. I am sending a copy of the bills to Mr. Held and Judge White, so that any of our people who are interested may see just what the legislature is doing.

The city of Stockton has invited both houses to visit that city next Sunday and be the guests of the city. That we will accept goes without saying. T. J. Weldon.

The gist of the bill introduced by Assemblyman Weldon to exempt homesteads is as follows: A homestead actually used and occupied by a family and owned by a member thereof, up to the value of $1000, is hereby exempt from all taxation (except strictly local assessments for streets, sidewalks, sewers and like improvements) and when such homestead exceeds $1000 in value, it shall only be assessed for taxation on the value in excess of $1000."

(Special Correspondence)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9—The State Assembly is now in full swing. C. C. Young of Alameda was elected Speaker of the House, defeating Sutherland of Fresno and Benedict of Los Angeles. Mallory was elected chief clerk without opposition. Harper of El Dorado was elected minute clerk; T. G. Walker first assistant clerk and Reese of Sacramento, was elected chaplain.

Governor Johnson's message was read. This was an able document.

The Assembly is composed of a fine body of men and will no doubt work earnestly for the best interests of the state.

The Japanese question is uppermost just now. The Exposition committee was present this week with the urgent request that no alien land bill or restriction of Japanese be introduced at this session, stating that such legislation would directly affect the success of the exposition. Al parties agreed that the matter was one of serious consideration.

A list of committees prepared by the speaker of the house is now before the body.

The people of Sacramento are very courteous and are doing everything possible to make the stay of lawmakers and members of the Senate and Assembly, as well as attaches and employes, pleasant and agreeable. This is a busy city but our own Northern country is the real investment and home sectiion of California.

T. J. Weldon.

JOHN M'NAB CALLED EAST

U. S. District Attorney J. L. McNab was in town Monday on a business visit and renewing acquaintances. He left Tuesday for Washington where he has been called to consult on important matters. This is an exceptional honor for a coast attorney. John still maintains however that Ukiah is his home and says that he will never see any place that looks as good to him as Mendocino county.

CHICKEN THIEVES ABROAD

E. L. Browning reports that some one borrowed his entire flock of chickens one night last week. The chickens were thoroughbred plymouth rocks and the rooster cost him $10. He says that if the party who took them wanted them for culinary purposes that he will be willing to donate them a dozen ordinary hens if they will return the others.

A Sick Man

S. B. Hartman, M. D.

Writes Dr. Hartman About Kidney Disease.

A gentleman writes me: "I was greatly interested in your article describing the Kauffman case of serious disease of the kidneys. The description of his case exactly outlines my condition. I am sure if Peruna cured him as you say, it would cure me also. I am losing flesh rapidly and the doctors say I have every symptom of Bright's disease of the kidneys. If you think I would be benefited by Peruna I will certainly try some as the doctors have practically given me up, the same as they did him."

In reply I wish to say, first, that I never make any promises as to what Peruna will cure. No physician can make positive statements of that sort. I can say this much, however, if I were in your place I should certainly give Peruna a trial. I know of no other remedy that would be so likely to be of use to you in your present condition as Peruna. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bedtime. Continue this for two or three weeks and then if there is anything you wish to ask me further write me and I will give your letter prompt attention.

If I find that the Peruna is not helping you I will be perfectly frank and tell you so, for I would not have you take Peruna unless it was really helping you. But it has rescued so many cases of kidney disease that I am quite confident you will find it exactly suited to your case.

Kidney disease begins with catarrh of the kidneys. Peruna is a catarrh remedy. Unless the destruction of the kidneys is already too great Peruna relieves the catarrh and the cause of the kidney disease is removed.

I shall anxiously await a report of your case. Remember, all letters are sacredly confidential. I never use any one's name or address without his written consent. My correspondence is absolutely private. PERUNA IS FOR SALE AT ALL DRUG STORES.

SPECIAL NOTICE—Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna. To such would say, this formula is now put out under the name of KA-TAR-NO, manufactured by KA-TAR-NO Company, Columbus, Ohio. Write them and they will be pleased to send you a free booklet.

ZUMWALT WILL CONTEST

A contest has been filed by I. G. Zumwalt against his victorious opponent William Kent in the congressional fight. Zumwalt alleges that Kent beat him by spending money and that it cost $10,000 to secure his nomination and $50,000 to be elected. Technically Zumwalt is not eligible to a seat in the house should his contest be successful. It is intimted that Kent is planning a counter attack on Zumwalt for himself exceeding the $750 campaign expenses allowed by law. Congressman Kent denies that charge and alleges that Theodore Bell and others are at the bottom of it. The contest will be heard by the house of representatives.

George Crawford of San Francisco recently paid a visit to C. L. Crawford at his Largo ranch. Mr Crawford is an employee of the Fleishacker Paper company.

HUMBOLDT COUNTY IS FOR PUBLICITY

Humboldt County has just begun a promotion and development campaign which promises to be one of the most interesting and effective movements of the kind ever set afoot in California. A fund of $50,000 has been subscribed, and will be expended during the next three years under the supervision of a committee of thirty leading business men. Rufus Rockwell Wilson, late secretary of the Sattle Commercial Club and a well known community development expert, is executive secretary and director of publicity of the new Humboldt County organization. He was introduced to the people of Humboldt by Leigh H. Irvine, managing editor of the Eureka Times, who knew Mr. Wilson and his effective work in Washington Mr. Wilson is installing a modern publicity plant, organizing sundry associations for auxiliary work, and has already induced the community to begin tugging with might and main on the "get together" rope. Humboldt will soon enjoy its first railroad; jetties which will make its bay one of the most easily accessible, as it is now one of the most spacious, on the Coast will be completed in time to reap the benefits of the canal and there will be no doubt concerning the development of her varied resources.

Ukiahites have been enjoying a treat the past week as Fred Scholl has been shipping in abalones. They came from Fort Bragg and are very fine specimens; and fried abalone, abalone soup and abalone salad are now to be found on most any of the bills of fare.

WHY WASTE HUMAN EFFORT?

By J. E. Waggoner, Service Bureau Manager.

The harvest which has just passed witnessed a greater lack of farm help than perhaps any harvest that we have known. The cry for farm laborers from the Northwest, megaphoned over the entire country, lost none of its intensity when heard at short range. Farmers boarded trains at the station offering $3.00, $3.50 per day and in some cases more for farm help. Their solicitations were met by the stare and dumb silence of the passengers.

At this point one is apt to ask "why," if such is the case, and there seems to be no doubt but that it is—is the farm help problem growing greater year after year. There are many reasons for this—some are lured away from the farm by the attractions of the city, while others turn their backs to the farm because of the drudgery and long hours they are required to work on the ordinary farm. It is right and proper that the farmer should work long hours during certain seasons of the year in order to save the crop, but we find the largest percentage do not stop at this point, but pride themselves in early rising, saying nothing, however, of the work actually accomplished. We do not wish to discountenance early rising, but that in itself will not be productive of results. We often hear the old adage, "the early bird catches the worm"—this success was not necessarily due to early rising but to knowing where to go; in other words, the farmer should combine, with early rising—early and careful planning.

Just recently the writer was on an Iowa farm where a new silo had been erected. It was discouraging to note that the silo had been built eight or ten feet from the side of the horse barn, in fact, it was 200 or 300 feet from the place where the silage was to be fed, viz: the cattle barn; in other words, a large percentage of the silage would have to be carried 200 or 300 feet during feeding time. The energy and time expended as a result of carelessly building the silo at this point can be placed on the "loss" side of the ledger. It is not infrequently the case that it takes fifteen or twenty minutes to carry the corn for feeding the horses, and even longer to feed the hogs and other animals, but if the corn crib were properly located it would save two-thirds to three-fourths of this work.

By the proper arrangement of farm buildings hours of time and scores of miles of travel can be saved. It is much easier and usually takes no more time to unload a load of corn or grain in a crib or bin in the barn or hog house than it would to unload it at a corn crib standing several hundred feet from either.

If we were to visit a modern plant that is manufacturing machines for the farm or other machinery we would find that every casting and every part had a certain route through the works. The holes are bored or punched with one machine, it is then handed or delivered to the next machine where the milling or planing work is done; in other words, it passes from machine to machine until the article is completed. If the method practiced on many farms were in vogue in factories, either the price of machines would be higher or the factories would go out of business.

Conditions and methods have changed. The farmer now has at his disposal farm equipment which will enable him to reap greater profits from the area farmed if he spends part of his time planning the various operations than if the old methods were followed. He should no longer view his occupation in the light of a day-laborer, but from the angle of a business man. There is, perhaps, no occupation that requires any keener judgment and better management than to operate a farm successfully.

The scarcity of farm labor can be met, in a degree, by so planning operations and growing diversified crops as to distribute the work over a longer period. There is no question but that the farmers in the northwest in the wheat sections and the cotton farmers of the south will soon realize the importance and necessity, not only from the standpoint of its effect on the soil, but from the viewpoint of the laborer, to practice better and more complete rotations.

Data collected by the government shows that the yearly earnings per farm hand is almost directly proportional to the farm equipment used. The using of a larger number of farm machines and more power, and following better plans, including a proper rotation of crops, will help to solve the labor problem.

Fodder left in the shock will lose from 25 to 40 per cent of its feeding value, besides it is a bad practice to say the least to haul it in as needed during the cold winter days. Better plan to stack it if possible. To shred the fodder, you will find more economical than stacking.

It is usually a good practice to turn the cattle and other stock into the corn stalks for only a short time each day until they get accustomed to the change in the nature of the feed. See that they are provided with plenty of good water.

Better begin to look up the alfalfa crop. Every corn belt farmer should have at least ten acres of this valuable crop next year. You can't raise your protein any cheaper in any other way.
